THE HOME PAPER

SAY!

(By CHARLES J. ARNOLD)

Included in my mail, this morning, was a letter from the w k "pessimist", who goes on the theory that everything is wrong, unless the home High School basketball team wins all of its games. Although this specie is almost extinct, there still are a few of them running at large. This one blames everyone from the Chamber of Commerce down to the gymnasium janitor for the loss of games by the High School team. Of course the coach gets his along with most everyone else. Old "pessimist" forgets games won in the past by a team under the tutelage of the same coach. Perhaps things would be better if the critic, who fails to sign his name—as they generally do in similar cases—would boost a bit and knock less. If some folks could just realize that no team is invincible; that one school cannot have the winning team every year and that a good sport is the one who can take the bitter along with the sweet, oh, how much better it would be. This fellow complains of the Chamber of Commerce. I'll bet he is not a member. He claims that favoritism was shown by the coach. I'll bet he had a favorite on the squad and that he wanted favoritism shown him. He complains that the High School has no band. I'll bet he would not give a dollar to ward the support of a High School band. He complains that the team lacked the "never die" spirit. Well, pessimism never inspired enthusiasm. And if you had had the nerve to sign your letter I sure would have printed it old "Pessimist."

Another letter comes from "A student of the Roachdale High School," who attempts to be a little sarcastic and ridicule a little in his comment regarding the Sectional tourney. The writer—another of those nameless persons—would have shown a much better spirit had he assumed a bit different attitude. Roachdale won a well deserved victory, but its victory is not being popularized by any member of the Roachdale High School writing such letters. Far better, it would be to show good sportsmanship by being modest in the victory. Lindbergh is by far the most popular American of history. And did you ever hear of him ridiculing others or praising himself?

Well, the basketball season, as far as "us folks" here in G. C. are concerned, is over. So let's forget past differences and boost the Roachdale team in the Regional. The "up county" boys played a mighty nice game and here is hoping they get through the Regional and go to the State. Luck to you Roachdale.

NOTICE—Although I "just love" to get letters, I much prefer that my correspondents sign their name, to their offerings. If the letter contains anything of merit, I sure will be glad to publish them and omit the name if requested.

Maple syrup, robins and severe colds, fore-runners or spring are with us.

JAMES L. RANDEL DIES FOLLOWING STROKE TUESDAY

DEATH COMES TO GREENCASTLE BANKER AT PUTNAM COUNTY HOSPITAL AT 1 O'CLOCK WEDNESDAY—HAD BEEN ILL MANY MONTHS

The death of James L. Randel, prominent Greencastle banker, occurred at 1 o'clock, Wednesday noon, at the Putnam County hospital, following a stroke of apoplexy suffered Tuesday afternoon while seated at his desk in the Central National bank. He never regained consciousness following the shock.

Mr. Randel leaves one daughter, Mrs. George Cook of Hammond and one son, Clyde Randel, a Terre Haute attorney. Both were here at his bedside at the time of his death.

Mr. Randel was 66 years old, having been born in Bainbridge, December 10, 1862. In his early life Mr. Randel served as deputy auditor, deputy treasurer and later as auditor of Putnam County. In 1892 he accepted a position in the Central National bank and was connected with that institution during his business career.

Stricken by a stroke of paralysis, while seated at his desk in the Central National Bank at near 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, James L. Randel, cashier of the Central National Bank and Central Trust Co., is now in a critical condition. It is stated that there is little hope for his recovery. Mr. Randel was taken to the Putnam County hospital immediately following the stroke. He has been unconscious since.

Mr. Randel has been in ill health for several years. He had been away from the bank for the past several weeks and returned only Monday from Battle Creek and Gary, where he had been taking treatments. He was down at the bank for a short time Tuesday morning and returned late in the afternoon to attend a meeting of the directors of the bank.

Mr. Randel was seated at his desk, when he became suddenly ill. S. C. Sayers of the Central Trust Co., and Clyde Randel, of Terre Haute were with him at the time. They immediately called a physician and the stricken man was taken to the hospital. His entire right side is affected.

REBELLION IN MEXICO HAS BECOME REALITY

REBELS CONTINUE TO HOLD
ASCENDENCY IN NORTH—
FEDERAL TROOPS MARCH ON VERA CRUZ

REBELS TAKE MONTEREY

War Ministry Announces Recapture of Orizaba With Garrison Of About 500 Troops

WASHINGTON, Mar. 6.—(INS)—Herbert Hoover apparently has taken the first step in the formation of one important part of his foreign policy.

Broadly speaking, it is that constitutional government in Latin America is to be encouraged and supported actively if need be, and that revolution and military coups are to be discouraged and denied the material aids from this country, without which few of them can be successful. This was the interpretation placed today upon the prompt action of the new president in ordering the rigid maintenance of the embargo on arms and munitions to Mexico, and at the same time permitting shipments to go forward to the Mexican Federal government.

MEXICO CITY, Mar. 6.—(INS)—The rebellion in Mexico today took on the aspect of organized open warfare with the rebels continuing to hold the ascendancy in the North and Federal troops marching determinedly toward Vera Cruz on the eastern coast.

That Monterey, the industrial capital of the state of Nuevo Leon, has fallen before the onslaughts of rebel forces under general Jose Gonzalez Escobar, is now admitted by the war ministry.

The government, however, minimized the importance of the fall of Monterey, stating that there were few loyal troops in the city at the time and that the city was taken with virtually no fighting.

(According to rebel versions of the fall of Monterey, the rebels seized the city after an all night battle during which the first bloodshed of the rebellion occurred. The rebels claimed they were opposed by 1,000 Federal troops of which they captured 650. They also claimed numerous Federal casualties, listing General Lurraga among the dead.)

The war ministry also announced great progress in the drive to the sea towards the city of Vera Cruz. It stated that the entire rebel garrison of Orizaba, numbering about 500 troops, was recaptured. Orizaba is only 80 miles from Vera Cruz.

It is also stated that 850 rebels surrendered to the federal vanguard at Espehanza Puebla, near the Vera Cruz state boundary. Seven large electric and steam locomotives and much other rolling stock was recaptured at the railway Junction there.

The Federal force which took Orizaba consisted of 8,000 infantry and cavalry under the command of General Almazan. The Government indicated that virtually no opposition was encountered there either.

This force has now been augmented to 15,000 for a concerted drive upon Perote and Vera Cruz, according to the war ministry.

War ministry Calles in an official bulletin indicated that the rebel force defending Vera Cruz under General Aguirre was not sufficiently large to offer effective resistance to the Federal forces.

According to unofficial estimates here, General Aguirre's forces total between 3,000 and 4,000 men. Calles also stated that propaganda was being dropped from airplanes telling the rebels to lay down their arms or face serious consequences. He declared that no means were being omitted which might serve to avoid bloodshed.

Officials here estimate that the revolt throughout the country was restricted to only about 10,000 disloyal (Please Turn to Page 2)

COFFMAN CASE WILL BE HARD FOUGHT, BELIEF

PROSECUTOR MARSHALL ABRAMS
TO BE ASSISTED BY F. S. HAMILTON—BAINBRIDGE MAN
TO BE DEFENDED BY JOHN H. JAMES AND FRED THOMAS

Indications Wednesday were that the case of Jesse Coffman, Bainbridge man, charged with embezzlement, scheduled to begin before a jury in the Putnam Circuit court Thursday, will be hard fought. Coffman is alleged to have embezzled a sum of $193 from Fred Ford of Bainbridge. According to the prosecution, Coffman is alleged to have taken livestock belonging to Ford to Indianapolis, where he sold it for $193. Prior to this alleged transaction the two men are said to have been stock traders.

The state will attempt to prove that Coffman was merely an agent of employe of Ford and thus liable to prosecution on the charge of embezzlement. Coffman's defense, it is said, will be based on an allegation of partnership with Ford, which would make him non-labile on the charge.

Prosecutor Marshall Abrams will be assisted in the prosecution by F. S. Hamilton, local attorney, while Coffman will be defended by attorneys John H. James and Fred Thomas. A large number of witnesses have been summoned for the case.

LEBANON, Ind., March 6.—(INS)—Four persons were dead here today as the result of one of the worst grade crossing crashes in the history of Lebanon, when a Chicago-bound Big Four passenger train rammed a car carrying a funeral party returning from Indianapolis. Three of the victims were killed instantly and the fourth died later in the Williams Hospital here.

The dead were: Charles W. Beck, 54, a transfer man of Lebanon. Mrs. Mary Beck, 49, his wife. J. Newton Jafes, 73, a Thorntown stock buyer. Carl Cross, 34, of near Lebanon. Cross died at the Williams Hospital here about six hours after the accident.

The crash occurred on the Indianapolis avenue crossing here. Coroner William H. Spieth was expected to conduct an inquest into the four deaths today.

WILL REFUND MONEY TAKEN FROM FARMERS

INDIANAPOLIS PROMOTERS
THREATENED WITH PROSECUTION RETURN CONTRACTS AND CASH TAKEN FROM LOCAL MEN UNDER PRETENSE OF BUILDING POWER LINE

Return of amounts ranging from $10 to $55 to twenty-five farmers residing east of Greencastle, by B. A. Hull and P. B. Scott of Indianapolis who secured contracts and the investments from the farmers under pretense of building an electric power line from Greencastle to Mt. Meridian, was effected Wednesday and probably marks the end of a case which started in the Putnam Circuit court several weeks ago when Grafton Longden and other farmers demanded an investigation of the two men. Prosecutor Marshall Abrams who started the investigation at the instigation of the farmers, said charges against the two men would be dismissed.

Scott and Hull, a power line promoters, secured contracts and the investments from farmers last summer. Various false representations were made by the men, the investigation showed, and they were formally charged with obtaining money under false pretenses. Although both the local prosecutor and the public service commission wanted the men prosecuted, the farmers were satisfied with getting their money back and opening the way for some one else to build the power line which the farmers really want.

Farmers made investments of 10 percent of their final assessment for construction of the power line last summer. The men represented they did not want to cash the checks given by the farmers but merely wanted them to show the public service commission. The check were cashed however, and the farmers began to sense something was wrong when the power line was not developed.

CLAIMS MUST BE FILED EARLY

Under a new policy of County Auditor W. E. Gill and the county commissioners, all claims to be acted on by the commissioners at their regular meetings the first Monday in each month, must be filed at least five days before the meeting, or the Wednesday before the meeting.

The commissioners, under their new plan, will publish the claims once before the meeting, probably on Friday, and once after they allow the claims. Heretofore all claims were not published until after the meeting. Commissioner's allowances must be published twice under Indiana laws governing such documents.

By publishing the claims once before the meeting they can be scrutinized and persons objecting to the claims will have an opportunity to appear before the commissioners at their meeting and show cause why the claims shall not be allowed.

"To stay slender reach for a Lucky Strike instead of a sweet when your sweet-tooth tempts you. I have practised this for years and find it a most effective way of retaining a trim figure. There is something to the toasting process which develops a flavor in Luckies that completely satisfies the desire for sweets. At the same time, toasting takes out the irritants and Luckies never affect the voice."

It is true that during the year 1928, Lucky Strike Cigarettes showed a greater increase than all other Cigarettes combined. YOUNG LADY WELL AGAIN, THANKS TO NEW KONJOLA

Astounded At The Speed With Which The New Medicine Attacked And Solved Her Health Problems

MISS LEONA SCHOLL

"I am feeling better now than at any time in my life. I think this is simply wonderful," said Miss Leona Scholl, 26 Condit street, Hammond, Indiana.

"My stomach was completely out of order. After every meal pain ensued, and I derived little benefit from what little I could eat. I tried several medicines and treatments, but without the least success. Nothing seemed to get at the cause of the indigestion."

"I was attracted to this new Konjola by the many and sincere endorsements, and I wondered if it would help me. I bought just one bottle, thinking to give Konjola a trial, but to my surprise, that one bottle relieved my trouble completely. In a week I was able to eat anything I liked without the slightest discomfort. I think this is simply wonderful and I am glad to add my praise of Konjola to the many splendid endorsements it has received."

Konjola is sold in Greencastle at Owl drug store and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—Adv.

No home is modern without Self-Action Gas Hot Water Service

He thought his furnace coil supplied hot water free—BUT IT DIDN'T!

Is your coal bill high?

HEATING water in the furnace coil is costly. You don't get it "for nothing" as many folks believe. Water running through the coil takes one-fifth of the heat which should go into warming your home—adds 20% to your heating expense. Think what this means at the present price of fuel! Discard the wasteful water coil. Give your furnace a fair chance at house-heating. Install Self-Action Gas Hot Water Service.

This modern service insures unlimited supply—hot, lukewarm or tepid water, whichever you want—day or night. Convenience, health, satisfaction! Gives your home the comforts of a modern hotel. The heater starts and stops itself. You need not go near it once it is put in operation. Costs little to maintain. Works for a few cents a day.

Call at our store and see how the service works. Or phone, and ask for Water Heating Department. You will receive full particulars. Investigate today. $5 down—balance in easy monthly payments.

REV. ANTROBUS GIVES A SECOND LECTURE

The second address in the series of lectures by the Rev. Barney Antrobus of Crawfordsville, was given Tuesday evening at the First Baptist Church. The subject for his talk was "The Silence of God."

"Why does not God speak out of the heavens today as He did in the days of the Old Testament? What is the matter with this suffering world? Why all the ravaging in the World War?"

"Such questions, when hurled by men like Clarence Darrow at humanity, must be met squarely. History seems to indict God. Nations have questioned His fatherhood, but when Christ came on earth these questions were answered. Yet men continue quibbling about the existence and the holiness of Christ.

"If God does not answer our questions by miracles, there is a reason. He has already spoken enough. In Christ are contained all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge. All human life is tied up with Jesus. There is no other philosophy than the life of Christ. The cross is the answer to our questioning minds."

INVITATIONAL TOURNAMENT PLAYS CONSUMED

FOUR TEAMS UP AND DOWN MONON RAILROAD TO PLAY IN BLIND EVENT HERE NEXT JANUARY 18 — CRAWFORDSVILLE, BLOOMINGTON AND JEFFERSON OFFICIAL APPROVE EVENT

Four county seat high school basketball teams up and down the Monon railroad will engage in an invitational blind tournament in Greencastle next January 18, according to plans consummated by officials from the four schools here Tuesday afternoon.

Teams to play here will be the Crawfordsville, Jefferson or Lafayette and Bloomington high school teams.

Under plans worked out Tuesday the tournament will rotate among the four schools for the next four years. The first tournament, however, will be held in Greencastle, as the blind tournament idea involving these four schools was first broached by Coach W. E. Bausman of Greencastle.

In blind tournaments, drawings for the tournament play are made just prior to the games which are played in the afternoon and evening. Two games are played in the afternoon and two in the evening. The losers of the afternoon games play a consolation affair in the evening and the two afternoon winners play for a suitable trophy in the feature evening tilt.

Receipts of the tournament will be equally divided among the four schools after expenses are deducted.

School officials here Tuesday were Clarence Lane, athletic manager, and Coach Singer, of Jefferson of Lafayette; Coach Johnson and Principal H. E. Binford, of Bloomington; and athletic manager Brandy Freeman and Principal F. N. Jones represented Greencastle high school.

SLAYING IS BIG MYSTERY

COLUMBUS, Ind., March 6.—(INS)—The assassination of Bert Taylor, 50-year old orchard man while he was trimming trees on the E. U. Wood orchard four miles south west of here, was developing today into one of Southern Indiana's greatest murder mysteries.

"We're up against a big stone wall in our investigation of this killing," Sheriff A. E. Fitch declared today. "If we could find a motive for it perhaps we might be able to find some clue to the slayer. But we can't figure out any motive."

Some one crept up behind Taylor and emptied a 12-gauge shotgun into Taylor's back. After Taylor dropped to the ground virtually dead from the terrible wound, the slayer struck him a terrific blow with the butt end of the shotgun on the back of the head which fractured the skull.

A youth working near Taylor failed to see the assassin.

Taylor had been employed on the Wood farm for five years. He was a member of the Ohio township advisory board and left a widow and two small children.

The victim of the mysterious slaying was born and raised in Bartholomew County according to Sheriff Fitch and had no enemies.

17TH VICTIM IS DEAD AT PEORIA

PEORIA, Ill., March 6.—(INS)—Peoria probably contained more teetotalers per capita than any city in the United States today following the death of the seventeenth victim from poison liquor here within the past four days.

The city is gripped with fear as a result of the mounting death rate. Every known bootlegger, frightened lest the grim reaper's harvest be fastened on him, has closed his shop and is lying low.

More than 3,000 such places are said to have suspended operations temporarily at least.

Chauncey P. Robins, who died in a hospital in terrible agony after "taking a few drinks," was the seventeenth victim reported to Coroner William Elliott.

Bank Leaders Come From Obscurity to Fame

ONLY one of the four men who will guide the fortunes of the Guaranty Trust Company, America's two billion dollar bank, made his start in the banking business. The average age of the quartet is only forty-five.

There is Thomas W. Lamont, partner of Morgan, who will preside over the executive committee. He started as a newspaper reporter and switched to the mercantile field.

William C. Potter, the president, was graduated from the mining school at Boston Tech, joined the Guggenheim forces in Mexico and the Southwest, and eight years ago became chairman of the Guaranty Trust Company.

Charles H. Sabin, who becomes chairman of the Guaranty Company, was a produce clerk in Albany, but he was such a brilliant baseball player that a bank team induced him to change to banking. He proved even more successful as a banker, and was drafted to New York where he built up the organization to its position of leadership.

James R. Swan, president of the Guaranty Company, was graduated from Yale, where he amassed high honors on the gridiron. As in Sabin's case, he migrated from banking in Albany to New York, later became a vice president in Guaranty. A year ago Swan became president of the organization in succession to Harold Stanley, who was taken into the house of Morgan.

The title of Chairman of the Board of the combined institutions goes to James S. Alexander, who was chairman of the National Bank of Commerce.

GILLIOM TO ENTER MARTINSVILLE CASE

Arthur L. Gilliom, former attorney general, has been employed by the city of Martinsville as a member of its legal staff to fight the petition of the Wabash Valley Electric Company in Federal court to enjoin the public service commission from enforcing a new rate schedule.

The company is attacking the commission's theory that patrons of a utility should pay a rate based upon valuation of property used and useful in their community and not upon the utility property as a whole. The public service commission refused to value the entire Wabash Valley Electric Company property and allocate Martinsville its proportionate cost.

Greencastle city officials and other city officials are watching the case with interest. It is said these cities may follow the action of Martinsville if that city wins its case.
